UPLIFT V2

Introducing the most advanced height adjustable standing frame: the UPLIFT V2 Standing Desk Frame. We've taken our most popular desk frame and increased its safety, improved its stability, and added multiple features.

UPLIFT V2-Commercial

We created the UPLIFT V2-Commercial Standing Desk Frame to provide a seated and standing height range that's ergonomically suitable for 95% of office workers. This frame (with a 1" thick desktop) meets the ANSI/BIFMA G1-2013 height standard required by many of the world's largest companies, which accommodates users from 5' tall seated to 6'3" tall standing.

Frame Similarities

355-lb Lifting Capacity Power to handle the heaviest of setups with capacity to spare	41.3"-72.2" Width Adjustment Frame expands to fit our 42"-80" desktop sizes	3-Stage Legs 33% faster & 33% greater height range than 2-Stage legs	Two-Motor Design Stronger, faster, more reliable, & quieter
Improved Stability Increased stability with tighter tolerance between telescoping leg stages	48 Mounting Points Patent Pending: Connect accessories directly to your desk frame	Superior Anti-Collision Sensitivity Detects light resistance & stops motion to prevent injury or damage	Award Winning Quality Designed for commercial-level use and constructed from highly durable materials

Which Frame Type is Right for Me?

The UPLIFT V2 and V2-Commercial desks are equally stable. The V2-Commercial desk has a height range that starts at about 3" lower than the V2 and conforms to the ANSI/BIFMA G1-2013 height standard. The key difference between the two is the height range as listed below:

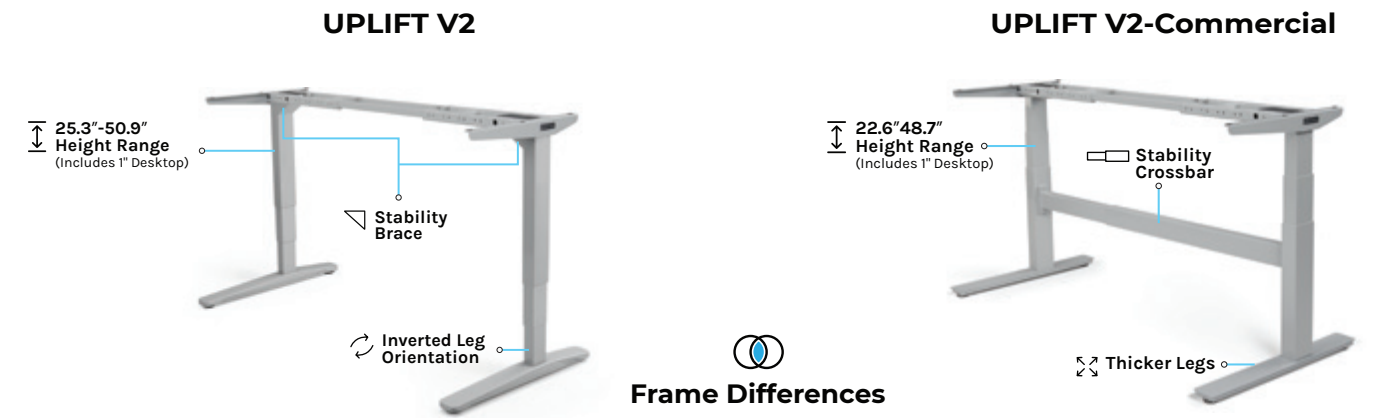

- The V2 Desk has a height range of 25.5"-51.1" with a 1" desktop. That's a 25.6" travel distance. This desk is ideal for users 5'4" to 6'7" tall. Adding a keyboard tray allows the V2-Commercial desk to accommodate a 4'10" user
- The V2-Commercial Desk has a height range of 22.6"-48.7" with a 1" desktop. That's a 26.1" travel distance with a lowest height that's about 3" lower than the V2 desk. This desk is ideal for users 5'0" to 6'3" tall. Adding a keyboard tray allows the V2-Commercial desk to accommodate a 4'6" user
- Adding casters raises the desk and is a good way to accommodate very tall users. Keep in mind that using an UPLIFT Motion-X board adds about 2.5" to your standing height

The UPLIFT V2 Desk has stability braces at the top of each leg for maximizing stability without the need for a lower crossbar between the legs. To provide the space needed for the stability braces, the leg orientation is inverted with the larger telescoping tube section at the top. These angular stability braces eliminate side-to-side wobble and replace the need for a lower crossbar.

For the V2-Commercial Desk to achieve a 3" lower starting height with a larger overall height adjustment range, the three telescoping leg sections were designed to be shorter and travel farther. Because of this, the telescoping leg stages overlap each other less than they do on the V2 desk legs. To compensate for less overlap, the V2-Commercial desk has thicker legs connected by a lower crossbar. The end result is best-in-class stoutness that matches the award-winning stability of the V2 desk.

The V2-Commercial Desk was developed to optimally accommodate users under 5'4" tall. It meets the ANSI/BIFMA G1-2013 height standard to accommodate users who are 5'0" to 6'3" tall (5th percentile female seated height to 95th percentile male standing height). With the lower starting height, the V2-Commercial Desk also better accommodates children. Adding a keyboard tray allows the V2 desk to accommodate a 4'10" or taller user, and allows the V2-Commercial desk to accommodate a 4'6" or taller user.

We recommend the use of a keyboard tray with either desk to position the keyboard and mouse so your wrists are perfectly straight and the keyboard tray height is perfectly positioned either lower or higher than your desktop height. The optimal position for your keyboard and mouse is to have your upper arms hanging comfortably at your sides, with elbows at about 90 degrees, and wrists perfectly straight while typing and mousing. This will usually place the keyboard tray just above your lap. UPLIFT keyboard trays have 8" of height adjustment and move vertically from 5" below to 3" above the underside of the desktop (without a 2.8" thick track spacer). Adding a keyboard tray allows the V2 desk to accommodate a 4'10" or taller user, and allows the V2-Commercial desk to accommodate a 4'6" or taller user.

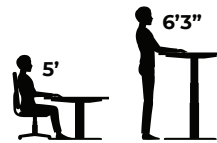

Frame Differences

Height Range	25.3"-50.9" Height Range This range includes a 1" desktop. The total travel distance is 25.6"	22.6"-48.7" Height Range This range includes a 1" desktop, meeting the ANSI/BIFMA height requirement. Total travel distance is 26.1"
Stability Design	Stability Brace Steel reinforcements are tucked under the desktop and eliminate side-to-side wobble. Stability braces remove the need for a lower crossbar, leave more room for accessories, and create a clean, streamlined look	Stability Crossbar We included a stability crossbar to support this lower-height-range frame, which lets you work at higher heights without your desk wobbling
Leg Design	Inverted Leg Orientation Inverted leg orientation allows us to weld stability braces to both sides. This gives your desk optimal stability without the need for a stability crossbar	Thicker Legs These legs have a 35% larger cross-sectional area to improve stability (90 mm x 60 mm vs 80 mm x 50 mm)

BIFMA ANSI/BIFMA Standards Met BIFMA X5.5-2021 Durability Standard ANSI/BIFMA G1-2013 Height Standard AND BIFMA X5.5-2021 Durability Standard

BOTH of our frames meet and exceed BIFMA X5.5-2021 ratings for Stability, Strength, Durability

In addition, our UPLIFT V2-Commercial Frame also meets the ANSI/BIFMA G1-2013 HEIGHT standard (its minimum height is 3" lower)
